Perched high on the mighty Himalayan range, the kingdom of Bhutan has defied globalization and chosen to remain a hidden paradise, accessible only to a fortunate few. The Kingdom of Bhutan, known as the land of Dragon, rises from the forest-covered foothills, which overlook the Brahmaputra River, to the alpine southern slopes of Himalayas. Heights range from 6500-24500 ft. The country is 18000 sq miles and is nestled between Tibet and India. It is one of the world's most unspoiled areas. Here one will enjoy the Buddhist culture, which is integrated into every aspect of people's daily life. Bhutan has 20 peaks over 23,000 feet. It is a great place to enjoy beautiful Himalayan mountain scenery amongst unlogged forests and picturesque valleys with terraced fields, while also seeing spectacular birds.

Over 600 birds include some of the most exotic and rare species in the eastern Himalayas. Bhutan also has an extremely diverse mammal life including the endangered Red Panda and the Golden Langur.

Bhutan's flora is no less impressive. More than 600 orchid species, 46 species of rhododendrons (4 endemic), and more than 300 species of medicinal plants are found within its borders.
